

Domestic Cleaning - TSD Cleaning Services are Giving out Gifts this Christmas

Nick Vassilev January 17, 2013

Cleaning Services

Although it's a busy time of year for TSD Cleaning Services as they are in demand sprucing up homes ready for the Christmas season, they've generously decided to reward their customers with some pre sale special offers. TSD Cleaning Services are popular in London at this time of year for their after party clean ups, their deep cleans and their after builders cleans.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

(Newswire.net -- January 17, 2013) London, UK -- Although it's a busy time of year for TSD Cleaning Services as they are in demand sprucing up homes ready for the Christmas season, they've generously decided to reward their customers with some pre sale special offers. TSD Cleaning Services are popular in London at this time of year for their after party clean ups, their deep cleans and their after builders cleans.

It's no surprise that many choose the season to bring a new kitchen into the home as the imminent cooking of the turkey makes them realise they need a better space. TSD Cleaning Services enable customers to use their new kitchens almost immediately after fitting without worrying about the rubble, the dust or the mess many builders leave behind.

Along with this their carpet cleaning services are coveted as many understand the money saving potential at this time of the year if they use a professional carpet cleaner rather than shelling out on new pile.

Now, customers can enjoy this service with a huge ten per cent off, allowing everyone to benefit from clean, fresh, germ free carpets and rugs without breaking the bank.

TSD Cleaning Services will be rolling out a multitude of special offers all over the Christmas season as they understand the pressures families face when working full time. As a family run company they appreciate that there are not enough hours in the day to relax, work, play, cook and sleep and so their mission is to make lives easier.

TSD Cleaning Services also realise that the cost of living has escalated in this economic crisis and many people view help in the home as an expensive luxury they can't afford, that is why they are trying to change this perception with special seasonal offers that show the time saved through cleaning is priceless.

Ani Zareva the founder, owner, CEO of TSD Cleaning Services says, "no matter how rich you are you can't buy time. As a family man I understand the guilt many working parents feel as they try to spend spare minutes with their families but still have an entire house to clean. I strongly believe that our services pay for themselves as they give families back that precious quality time that many of us are missing out on."

For more information please visit <http://www.tsdcleaning.co.uk> and see which affordable services will make the season a little longer this Christmas.

Editor's Note:

Ani Zareva

TSD Cleaning Services

7 Atkinson Road
London
E16 3LP

020 8819 9476

<https://plus.google.com/107131204074651237872/posts>